The New Senators Sworn In---Peace and Harmony Prevailing.

Democratic Caucus To-day.

WASHINGTON, October 11 .- The democratic senators met in caucus this morning and remained in session about an hour. The committee appointed yesterday evening to examine the credentials of the three new senators reported they had found nothing on which to base objections to their admission on prima facie evidence of their credentials. The report was promptly addopted and the caucus adjourned. The democratic senators met in caucus at 2 a. m. to discuss the situation and arrange upon a plan of action respecting the appointment of committees and election of secretary.

WASHINGTON, October 11.-Immediately after reading the journal, Mr. Edmunds, rising to a question of the highest privilege, moved that the oath of office be administered to Nelson W. Aldrich, senator elect from Rhode Island, There being no objection, the motion was agreed to, and Aldrich was sworn in. Edmunds then made a similar motion in the case of the senators elect from New York. McPherson interposed and stated he desired to present a petition pending that motion. He held in his hand a communication from certain members of the New York legislature alleging certain reasons why Lapham and Miller were not entitled to seats in the senate. With regard to these allegations he knew nothing. He didn't present the petition with any desire to delay action on the administration of the oath. He offered the petition rnd would refer it at the proper time to the appropriate committee, Edmunds said that as the petition referred to the propriety of swearing in the new senators from New York he would not Suject to its reception at the present time. The petition was received and laid on the table and the oath of office administered to the senators from New York. A committee consisting of Pendleton and Anthony was appointed by the presiding officer to wait upon the president and inform him that the senate was ready to receive any communications he might be pleased to send them. Recess was taken for half an hour After recess Edmunds offered a resolution declaring that the standing committees of the senate as they were constituted at the close of the last session of the senate be continued for the present session and authorizing the president pro tem to fill any vacancies which may exist therein. Harris asked that the resolution lie over one day under the rule. It was so ordered. The committee appointed to wait upon the president reported that it had performed its duty and that the president had stated he would communicate in writing with the senate to-morrow. The senate then adjourned.

The Cabinet and Senate. Washington, October 11.—Senators Cameron, of Pennsylvania, Saunders, Logan, Platt, Cameron, of Wisconsin, Van-Wyck and Sherman, and three or four members of congress, called on President Arthur this morning at 12 o'clock. A meetng of the cabinet was held at the residence of Senator Jones. All members were in attendance. It is generally believ that at least two cabinet announced when the senate convenes to morrow, the retiring members being Sec-retary Windom and Attorney general Mac-Veagh. It is known the president has upon his desk about a hundred nomina-tions for the senate, and the general im-pression is that final adjournment will be

LONDON, October 11 .- The Morning Post says, immediately on being informed of the dispatch of the Turkish mission to Egypt, Lord Granville informed France he was willing to take the initiative in the proposal for joint action in Egypt, and suggested that an identical note be addressed the porte, explaining the perfect understanding existing between France and England, and declaring that while both nations fully recognized the porte's right of suczerainty, they would not tolerate any manifestation likely to endanger the influence and rights enjoyed by the two powers in the administration of Egypt. The English and French diplomatic agents at Cairo were also requested to use their influence for hastening the departure of the mission, and were informed, that if required, two

Indian Movements in Arizona, SAN FRANCISCO, October 11 .- A Wilcox, Arizona, dispatch reports from San Carlos that the Chiricahua scouts who deserted killed one of the White Mountain Indians Fears are entertained that they will retaliate. If a general fight takes place among them no one can tell where it will end. It is stated that sufficient troops are on the ground to keep all quiet. General McKenzie is at the agency. Chief George is reported going toward Ash creek with his men and some of Carr's troops are in pursuit. Colonel Sanford has been directed to place his troops in such position as to prevent all incursions of the hostiles along the border between Arizona and Sonora, the troops under McKenzie to look out for

Star Route Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, October 11.—In the criminal court this morning, Totten, counsel for the defense in the star route case, presented a motion to rescind the order, made a few days ago, authorizing information to be filed. The motion to rescind the order allowing information to be filed is a long technical document.

The mayor also took occasion to say that the law contemplated the isolation of prostitutes so far as possible, and their exclusion from all cial enjoyments, in order that their lives should be made as dreary as possible. It was therefore against the law for the party before him to congregate in any one place but that he would not enforce the penalty of the law in event of the ignorance of the accused of the spirit of the law.

NEW YORK DEMOCRATS.

The State Convention Meets at Albany To-Day.

Keeping Both Out. ALBANY, October 11.-It has been decided to exclude the Tammany and Irving hall delegates from seats in the convention.

The Convention ALBANY, October 11 .- Tweedle Hall is packed in every part with delegates and others in attendance on the democratic state convention. Much cheering occurred when Senator Kernan arrived and the band began to play. General Sickles and Hubert O. Thompson were also loudly cheered. The Tammany and Irving hall delegations will probably leave for New York this afternoon. General Faulkner came up from the body of the hall at 1:20, and was enthusiastically received. He at once called the convention to order, merely thanking them for the kind reception, congratulating them on the amicable feeling which characterized all preliminary proceedings. [Laughter.] D. B. Hill was chosen temporary chairman, and addressed the convention. He said:

I invoke for your deliberations that spirit of I invoke for your deliberations that spirit of harmony which is so essential to the success of the work which we are about to inaugurate, trusting that past differences may be forgotten and individual preferences and ambitions may be cheerfully sacrificed for the common good. It will be our first duty to adjust all questions affecting the right to representation in the convention, and it is to be hoped they will be ararranged so satisfactorily and thoroughly and so plainly that they will be regarded as settled, not only for to-day, but for all future time. [Applause.]

Referring to national affairs he said: Neither civil war nor the hand of the assasin have been able to destroy the people's faith in the stability of the government. Sectional animosities have ceased, and all efforts of our political opponents for purposes most partisan will not avail to kindle to life the dead embers of sectional hate and bitterness. It is our duty to enter a solemn protest accessing the wholesale corruption which was resorted to the whole states were debauched and the presidency virtually purchased away contest by which whole states were debauched and the presidency virtually purchased away from us. It was no fault of the gallant soldier who led our ticket that he was not awarded the victory which he so richly deserved. Through the efforts of Dorsev and Brady and the ring which they led, the will of the people was nullified by the unscrupulous use of funds stolen from the federal treasury and levied upon federal officials and great monopiles and monied corporations as the price of special privileges and franchises granted them by the republican legislation." He then preceded to speak against monopolies of all kinds, and in favor of honest and frugal administration of the state government.

The announcement, when made public, was a surprise to everybody, as the motive for wanting to purchase confederate bonds is not understood. It is surmised that this sudden appearance of what has been considered worthless and dead collat eral, is a scheme of collusion on the part of European and New York capitalists to jointly purchase bonds and in the future endeavor to get the state or general gov-ernment to pay them, the Europeans, and

New Yorkers, to divide the profit. The Ohio Election,

MANUFACTURES are needed to make this a city of importance. YESTERDAY was fire day in New York.

Two million dollars will not cover the loss. IF this charming October weather lasts a short time it will compensate for many of the trying summer days. If the press dispatches would drop the Christiancy diverce suit, it would be a boon to a long suffering public.

MR. BAYARD'S little speech on taking the chair, in which he talked of softening "partisan asperities," was evidently written before the senate met.

BECAUSE President Arthur dated his first message to congress "Office of the president of the United States," it must not be assumed that he is a sort of curbstone president with his office in his hat,

THE democratic talk at Washington about investigating the election of Lapham and Miller, with a view to deny those gentlemen their seats in the senate upon the ground that bribery consummated it, is foolishness; but predicated of democrats there is nothing impossible in it, as it is of just that sort of cooked-up stuff that democratic foolishness is made. It seems to be something they can't rid themselves of.

It is doubtful if the republicans will have any opportunity to regain possession of the head of the senate until there is a new deal by way of elections in the states, or the presidential election. David Davis is reported as having declared he would not vote to unsettle the decision of the democrats, were it once consummated. It is consummated by the election of Bayard, and so long as Davis votes with the democrats the senate is a tie. This is a part of the price the republicans have to pay tor what Senator Beck termed the "comic tragedy" of two senators resigning.

"Leading" is one of the most abused and misplaced words in the journalist's vocabulary. Every man who isn't positively obscure and disrespectable, figures in newspapers as "leading." The army of leaders is so large that one begins to wonder where they get their followers. No class of men save "leading citizens" are ever present at any important meeting. None but leading plan or carry out anything. And now comes a newspaper correspondent who has been enjoying the society of "leading In-dians." We will doubtless soon have leading rag-pickers, grave-robbers, beggars, and prominent paupers.—[Saturday Review.

And young women who make disgraceful elopements and other scandals are always "prominent society belles" and members of leading families," though they may come from the gutters.

SENATOR VEST yesterday pertinently and severely criticised Senator Edmunds's unworthy utterance that the democrats by electing the president of the senate offered a reward for the assasination of the president. He reminded him that the foul lips of the assassin who had already struck down one president, had on them no invocation for democratic success, but for a faction of the republican party, and if there was any responsibility for the crime it rested on the republicans and not the democrats. This was scorching enough; but one cannot say it was unmerited in the light of the insinuation that induced it.

If there has been any important event of the past four hundred years, for which Thurlow Weed is not responsible, it is simply because it has escaped the attention of that garrulous old gentleman. His latest discovery is that through his interposition Gen Sherman was called into service at the beginning of the war, and consequently the country is indebted to Weed for Sherman. Gen. Sherman says this may be true, but he never heard of it, and as he never saw Weed until after the war, and knows of no reason why Weed should have taken such an interest in him, he is inclined to doubt. Weed, like John G. Thompson, claims everything in sight.

WE can see no reason why the city should not claim some sort of rent or tribute of the companies who use her streets and alleys and public places for their own profit. They would not expect to use private property in that fashion, and pocket tens of thousands a year by it, and have nothing to pay. They know it would be exacted and secured as a condition of doing a single hour's work on their plans. Why should they not pay the city? They obstruct streets, they encumber sidewalks, they make pitfalls, they embarrass fire protection, they disfigure buildings, and it is all trouble to the citizen and all clear profit to the companies. Not only do they pay nothing for advantages that would tax them roundly on private property, but there are no owners in the city so lightly assessed, in proportion to value for public taxation.

WE have not indulged in cabinet speculations as most journals have in the last few weeks, but the suggestion or rumor that General Grant would have a place in Arthur's cabinent recalls a similar rumor before Garfield had announced his cabinet. The answer to that rumor then was that Grant would be such an overshadowing personality that, once in the cabinet, the real administration would be popularly attributed to him, no matter who was president, and that, should it at any time become necessary or expedient to have him out, it would be difficult to ask his resignation. We should think the same objection would lie against his choice now by Arthur. It would be almost impossible for Arthur to be president in the estimation of the people if Grant were in his cabinet. Every act and every policy would be ascribed to Grant.

"THE president believes the secretary of of the treasury should come from the great financial and commercial centre of the country" says a Washington dispatch. This means that he should be familiar with the methods and motives of those who control the movements of the "financial centre," otherwise it would make no difference whether he came from the centre or circumference. It is by no means clear that the finances of the whole country will be managed more honestly or wisely for the Wall street experience and skill of the secretary. On the contrary there is the chance of past associations and business connections creating a misleading influence. Three of the most notably bold, original and successful of our late secretaries, have been western men, who knew nothing of the financial centre and were none the worse of it-Chase, Sherman and Windom.

THE constitution requires the senate to cheose a presiding officer whenever the vice president shall exercise the office of president, and this must precede the swearing in of any new senator, the revised statutes declaring that "the oath of office shall be administered by the president of the senate to each senator previous to his taking his seat." Therefore partisan zeal advocates a breaking of the law when it rails against the democrats for insisting upon the election of a president the senate before allowing new senators to take their The democrats acted strictly according to law yesterday in compelling the election of a president of the senate the first thing, and they used nothing but the unquestioned right of a majority in declaring who that president should be. That it is Mr. Bayard is a matter of congratulation whether it remain so or not, Probably no democrat so commands the confidence of the country as Mr. Bayard.

WITH the united press of the papacy, the clergy and common sense against them, and nothing for them but tribal prejudice the land leaguers in Ireland are making losing fight, which; without the help of money from this country, would soon end by exhaustion. Some days ago we spoke of the importance of the part taken by the Cathelic bishops of the country in favor of a fair trial of the land act. To us it seemed the most significant feature of the tendency and end of the conflict of all the developments from the mobbing of Boycott to the late resolutions of the league. Now, there is added to this the hardly less significant expression of Archbishop Croke, ing two Irish potatees.

wlose speeches in county Tipperary, during the pendency of the land bill, were so reatly popular with the leaguers. In reonse to an address of a branch league he says that the land act is the best measure of the kind that the country has ever had, and he hopes the people will join and give it a fair trial. The current of common sense and action, seems to be setting in the direction commmended by Archbishop Croke and the convention of prelates.

CURRENT COMMENT.

As to whether Blaine is to remain in the cabinet or not, the last sentence of that letter which he wrote to Garfield accepting the place, might throw some light on it. Sai d he: "However much I might admire you as a statesman, I would not enter your cabinet if I did not believe in you as a man and love you as a friend." Does he stand that way toward Arthur?

"An unscrupulous adventurer, worthy of the confidence of neither side of the senate," is the New York Times's characterization of Gorham.

Fires in the past three months the New York Commercial Bulletin shows from its own files to have consumed an aggregate of $6,800,000 in July, $6,200,000 in August. and $9,800,000 in September; and from this account are omitted all fires causing a loss less than $20,000 each. September was the worst month on record, except those months n which the great fires of Boston and Chicago occurred; forest fires in that month aggregated a loss of $4,000,000, and with $1,500,000 allowed for the smaller fires no above enumerated the total is $11,300,000. The great cause of fires is carelessness.

The national tribute that was paid to that character of woman and quality of womanhood as revealed in Mrs. Garfield, was about as universal testimony to the impossibility of female suffrage, morally speaks ing, as could be given.

A radical and fundamental change of our ivil service system, of a character which will bring to an end the employment of the executive power for the administration of spoils, is the most imperative need of the American nation. A number of horse erished. The loss is estimated at half a million. The fire was caused by upsetting and oil can. The property belonged to Wm. H. Vanderbilt. A high wind raged and at one time the Park avenue hotel was threatened by tongues of flame and sparks, but the firemen managed to save the hotel. The flames flew across Thirty-second street and set fire to Worrell's large furniture storage building, which was en-tirely burned down. This building occupied the middle of a block on the south side of Thirty-second street, and was the largest of its kind in the city. Two milion dollars' worth of property was stored therein. The fight to save it was unavailing. The best families of the city, when traveling or out of town, stored their valuables at Morrell's, and took their own risks, insuring or not insuring, as they saw fit. Much material stored there consequently, uninsured. Some of the finest furniture in the city was stored here, and it was destroyed. It was in this house that the proprietors of the Fitth av-enue hotel stored their furniture. Among the articles stored was a picture owned by Wm. H. Vanderbilt and valued at $50,000 It fell a prey to the flames and was uninsured. On certain preperty stored some English companies held heavy risks, amounting in several instances to over fifty or sixty thousand dollars. The fire-men had all they could do to save the ad-ioining buildings. Morell estimated his oining buildings. Morrell estimated his oss at from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000 on building; his insurances, though large, are inadequate. Abram S. Hewitt lost $10,000. There are rumors of loss of life, but they have not been corroborated yet.

situated on his farm, two miles south o Muncie burned last night. In the barn were three horses, farming implements and a lot of grain, all of which were destroyed. Loss $4,000; insurance unknown. The strike of the stove moulders of New Albany, commenced last Wednesday, end-ed yesterday, by the proprietors acceding to the demand of the moulders for an advance of 15 per cent in their wages. There were over 200 men involved in the strike. They have all returned to work. Mrs. Elizabeth Powell, wife of Hon. S. F.

Powell, of New Castle, died on Sunday, after a lingering and painful illness of five months, of dropsy. Age, seventy-five years. Mrs. Powell was one of the oldest pioneers of the county, and leaves a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn her loss. While Frank Wade, of New Carlisle, St.

Joseph county, and a companion were amusing themselves in the former's room, a revolver in the hands of his friend was discharged accidentally, and the ball struck Frank in the left hip, inflicting a fatal wound. Frank was standing on his head when shot.

Robert McBride, a respectable man, aged sixty-seven, living one mile from Union City, was called to the door of his house Sunday night, and struck on the head with a heavy stone, by a young rough named John Branch. The blow caused a fracture at the base of the skull, and he is in a precarious condition. Branch escaped. Martin Behrig, a lame man, at New Albany, was badly hurt getting off the train coming from Louisville Sunday night. The train was in motion when the attempt was made, and Behrig was thrown under the wheels, his foot being crushed and leg broken in three places below the knee. Surgeons fear amputation will be necessary. A prominent tie contractor of the Fort Wayne road, G. E. Whitney, was killed at Hamlet station yesterday. He was cross-ing the track, and did not notice a freight car which was running down the track. Before he could get out of the way it struck and ran over him, cutting off both legs. He lived an hour. He was fifty-eight years of age, and leaves a wife. Chris Metzheiser, a prominent cattle dealer of Madison, was set upon last night by three young men named Heenan Dolan, Rheinhardt Depando and Joseph Heim. During the fight which ensued Metzheiser was badly cut in many different places. He will recover, but will be disfigured for for life. His assailants were placed under $500 bonds for preliminary examination. In the circuit court at Delphi, last Saturday, Mrs. Sarah Irwin obtained a verdict of $3,050 damages against James C. Newer, Dr. Loop and Perry Newer, proprietors of a drug store in the town of Henpeck, for the unlawful sale of liquor to her husband, and his consequent drunkenness, ill treat ment and final abandonment of her and heir three children. Dr. Loop had precribed whisky ad lib. but the court didn't take that into account.

Hanover College Prospering.

Every lover of old Hanover college will be glad to hear of its recent increase in prosperity. The college roll shows up twenty-five or thirty new students, and they are all of advanced grades. Additions are also expected after the mid-wiuter. The school has not been as prosperous in years. Very much of the increased in terest is due to the excellence of President Fisher's management, for he is a rare com-bination of energy, foresight and prudence. Students are coming in from the great south again in numbers, and they are generally of a class and character that command respect from the first.

Didn't He Do It Long Ago?

[Courier-Journal.] The rise in confederate bonds in Engand is caused by the efforts of some of the bondholders to get hold of the $11,000, 000 deposited years ago by the confederate government in the Bank of England. That gold, of course, belongs to our government, and as it has been drawing interest for about eighteen years, it would be well for the secretary of state to look after it. The money would doubtless be handed over.

- A little memory of May,
 That slept too late, as I have done,
 And so unknowing gone astray,
 And now stood lonely in the sun. It seemed with anxious look to ask,

 I feel the patter of the rain;
 I see the grapes that blush with wine.

The help already given to the Michigan sufferers, together with the promise of more, has saved many a farm to its owner. Immediately after the fire, speculators hurried into the burned-over district with cash, expecting to be able to buy up land at trifling prices; but the farmers, encouraged by the prompt assistance, have declined to sell. A sentimental fellow at Wrightstown,

Minn., wrote to a girl that he would hang himself if she did not marry him. As he was a stranger, she took his queer missive as an insulting joke, and replied angrily that he would please her greatly by choos ing the tree which grew near the window of her room. When she looked out next morning there hung his lifeless body.

Dr. Glenn, the California wheat grower, is unfortunate this year, his crop amount ing to only 100,000 sacks. This would satisiy most farmers, either in that or other states; but when the further facts are mentioned that he will have to keep 35, 000 sacks merely for seed next year, and that his last crop before this was 400,000 sacks, it is evident that the year is likely to prove a losing one to the doctor. In Washington there was a woman sick unto death, and her husband left her bedside to look at the president as he lay in state in the rotunda of the capitol. As he passed the casket, he plucked from Queen Victoria's wreath a half loosened flower that he knew was a partly blown tuberose, which he took to his wife and placed in water at her bedside. When it bloomed out, the flower disclosed the perfect form of a dove in the center. Having never heard of this kind of a flower—the Flower of the Holy Spirit—the revelation seemed miraculous to her, and the lady began to mend from the moment she saw it, believing, she said, that it was Christ's flower, sent from the president's bier to save

To allow such a remorseless foe to heath and comfort to take undisputed possession of the stomach, is to surrender needlessly the zest of life, and become surrender needlessly the zest of life, and become a voluntary martyr to unspeakable pains and penalties. No malady is more difficult to cope with, none in its chronic form so obstinately resists medication. But tackled at its inception with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, dyspepsia speedily vanishes, carrying with it the multifarious symptoms which attend it, and which in their chameleon changes inspire more erroneous beliefs regarding their cause than those of any other disease. Wind on the stomach, heartburn, water brash, palpitations, pain after eating, a sinking sensation at the pit of the stomach between meals: these and many other harrassing indicia of the complaint make a speedy exit when the great stomachic is persistently resorted to. It improves the appetite, strengthens the nerves, counteracts the effects of fatigue and exposure, and is a reliable antidote to the poison of malaria.

THE LEGION OF HONOR. A large audience for a first night of week's engagement witnessed the play of "The Legion of Honor" at English's last night. The piece opens quietly with a little too much of monologue and lack of dramatic action, but the interest soon develops and intensifies up to the final The plot is quite Frenchy, but rather cleaner than most of its class. A lady marries Count. DeMaubray, but shortly discovers that she has been trapped into a false marriage and that he has another wife. With a facility known only to French plays and morals she immediately marries Raoul De-Ligniers supposing that he knew of her recent alliance. He only discovered it several years later, and kept it secret on account of his daughter. The son entered the army and won the cross of the legion of honor. He returned and met his supposed father for the first time since childhood, and was very distantly received. The count also returned about this time, and the gossips revived the old slander. This brought about a hostile meeting between the real father and son, neither knowing the relation they sustained to each other. In the meantime an explanation between DeLigniers and his wife had taken place, wherein she had proven her innocence in the first marriage, and the husband, by some adroit work on the part of the dramatist takes the place of the son in the duel and slays the count. Garfield Street.

o the Editor of The Indianapolis News: While other states and cities are active preparing to forever keep the name of arfield green in the memories of the people, no steps to this end seems to have been taken with us. Permit through your columns this suggestion to our citizens, errespective of party or politics. We can perpetuate the name of our beloved dead president by simply changing the name of Market to Garfield street, which will become the principal thoroughfare between the beautiful state building upon its completion and the government building. When reminded that both the government and state buildings are this street, and that Washington street comes next south so-called for the father of our own beloved country; and that Ohio street comes next north, so-called after Garfield's mother state, this change would seem not only justifiable but most appropriate.

It is sincerely hoped immediate action will result in our being able to say the postoffice is at the corner of Garfield and Pennsylvania, and the new state building is at the head of Garfield street. By removing the fence from the circle and substituting a free stone coping, and placing flag or asphult walks at right angles through the circle it could be more MARSHALL C. BLAIN. inviting.

The cause of action to pursue remote endorsers, under our statute, is given to the assignee of the note, and not to the assignee of a judgment on the note, (15 Ind., 266.)

COUNTY BOUNTIES—RECOVERY.

8021. Board of Commissioners of Madison Co. vs. John Baker. Madison C. C. Affirmed. Woods, J.

This was an action by the appellee to recover This was an action by the appeller to recover certain bounties of the appellant claimed to be due him as a soldier in the late war. In 1863 the county commissioners of Madison county made an order of appropriation to volunteers under the (then) present call of the president of the United States for 300,000 men, fifty dollars to each voluteer when he produced to the auditor the certificate of the mustering officer etc., and fifty dollars at the expiration of his term of service; such volunteer to be credited to Madison county. A subsethe expiration of his term of service; such volun-teer to be credited to Madison county. A subse-quent order of the board was made providing for the issuing and sale of county bonds for the purpose of raising maney to pay said bounties. The court below found the plaints entitled to fifty dollars upon his reenlistment as a veteran to the credit of said county, and fifty dollars more at the expiration of his term of service; and that he was entitled to receive one hundred dollars more under the third section of the act of March 11, 1867, entitled an act to legalize and make valid certain county bonds legalize and make valid certain county bonds and to provide for the payment of the same." The objection urged against the plaintiff's right to the bounty offered in 1863, is that the right to the bounty offered in 1863, is that the plaintiff was already in the service under his first enlistment for a period which extended to the close of the war, and that he could not, by re-enlistment, entitle himself to this bounty. There is nothing in this objection. The national government deemed it politic to permit a re-enlistment of veteram soldiers before the expiration of the term of their first enlistment, and on such rein this objection. The national government deemed it politic to permit a re-enlistment of veteras soldiers before the expiration of the term of their first enlistment, and on such re-enlistment give credit on the pending call for men. The appellant received a credit on account of the plaintiff, who, if he had chosen, might have been eredited to another county.

[2.] The presentation of the claim for allowance to the county board was a sufficient demand and the appeal from the order rejecting the claim, brought the case properly into the circuit court for trial.

[3] The title of the act, passed by the legislature March 11, 1867, was to "legalize certain county bonds," the addition of the words "and to provide for the payment of the same," was probably needless, as expressing a matter properly connected with the subject. (Const., art. 4, sec. 19.) It was competent for the legislature, in legalizing the bonds, to add the conditions directing certain payment as provided in section 3 of the act.

JUNICES OF THEPEACE—APPEAL.

7946. The Pennsylvania company vs. George W. Trimble et al. Allen C. C. Appeal dismissed. Elliot. J.

This action was instituted before a justice of the peace, and a adgment rendered by the justice against the appellant for $45. Under the provisions of the act of March 14, 1877, this appeal must be dismissed for the reason that the amount in controversy is less than fifty dollars. (72 Ind., 342; 73 Ind., 592-558.)

SETTING ASIDE DEFAULT-PRACTICE. r830. David H. Slagle vs. Henry Bodmer, et al. Shelby C. C. Reversed. Elliott, J. Woeds, J., dissents. No opinion filed.
This was an application by the appellant to set aside a judgment entered against him at a previous term of the Shelby circuit court. A demurrer was filed to the complaint by the appellees, and when the consecuency of a group out the court. was ned to the companit by the appenies, and when the cause came up for argument the court announced that "The submission of the demurrer was, and must be regarded, as a full submission of the cause upon the fact stated in the motion." This rule was acquiesced in by the restricted. the motion." This rule was acquiesced in by the parties.

[1] An affidavit averring as an excuse for suffering a default, that the party "was detained at his some, suxteen miles from the county seat, by the serious illness of his wife," is a sufficient excuse in this case, where the allegations upon this point are unusually full and strong.

[2.] It must be shown, in an affidavit for setting aside a default, besides excusable neglect, that there is a valid and meritorious defense to the action. The facts constituting the defense that there is a valid and meritorious defense to the action. The facts constituting the defense must be fully stated.

[3] In this case, with the verified complaint of appellant, he filed copies of the complaint and answer in the cause in which the default and judgment were rendered, and properly designates them as exhibits. The appellees insist that these exhibits were no part of the complaint, on the ground that copies of instruments filed as exhibits which do not constitute the foundation of the action or defense, are not parts of the pleading with which they are filed. But the rule does not apply in this case. Where the parties are bound by the ruling of the court, the that submission on demurrer would be regarded as a submission on the facts stated. The matters stated in the affidavit are conceded to be true, not as matter of pleading, but as matter of evidence. This admission applies to all matters in dence. This admission applies to all matters in the affidavit. Exhibits of collateral instrusturm street, thence east on Sturm street to the center of Randolph street there to connect with a sewer from the state reformatory for women and girls; such sewer from the east line line of New Jersey street on Washington street to Pine street to be seven and one-half feet internal diameter; from corner of Washington and Pine streets to State street, six feet internal diameter; and from the corner of Ohio and State streets to the center of Randolph street two and one-half feet internal diameter, and all to be constructed of the best quality of hard burned brick laid in 1 variable cement, provided that the city, by ordinance, accepted and agreed to construct such lay of April, 1881.

"Resolved, That it is the opinion of this board

COUNTY BOUNTIES—RECOVERY.

952. Thomas M. Hackleman vs. Board Commissioners of Henry Co. Henry C. C. Reversed.

Woods, J.

The appellant presented to the commissioners

9852. Thomas M. Hackleman vs. Board Commissioners of Henry Co. Henry C. C. Reversed. Woods, J.

The appellant presented to the commissioners of Henry county a petition for allowance under an order made by the board in July 1882. The order was to the effect that the sum of 88.33 per month would be paid to each private who volunteered into the national service from Henry county, for the purpose of raising two companies for the 63th Indiana regiment, said sum to be paid for any time not exceeding three years. The appellant, who was a resident of the county, states in his petition that he enlisted into the United States service in July 1862, as a member of said 63th regiment, after the making of said order and expecting its benefits; that he was taken to a military camp of the United States, and there was assigned to the 8th regiment, being told that the 69th was full. The commissioners refused to allow the elaim and on appeal to the circuit court it was there defeated on the ground that he did not serve in the 69th regiment in compliance with the order. [1.] A contract should be supported rather than defeated. Where there is room for it the court should give a rational and equitable interpretation, which though neither necessary nor obvious, has the avantage of being just and legal, and supposes a lawful contract which the parties may be fairly regarded as having made. For the same reason all the parts of the contract will be construed in such a way as to give force and validity to all of them and to all the parts of the contract will be construed in such a way as to give force and validity to all of them and to all the language used. (2 Parsons Contracts, 505.)

[2.] The main purpose of the board in making this order was to procure the enlistment of soldiers in the national service; and it was not designed that such soldiers were not to have the bounty, unless they served in a particular regiment. The fact that the appellant was mustered into another regiment without his consent and by authority over which he had no control should not defeat his right to the benefits contemplated by the board in its order.

Rings in Trees. Lime, hackberry and other forest trees are leafing out for the second time this year, and the question arises whether the new flow of sap will deposit a sufficient amount of material to form one of the "rings" which indicate the yearly growth of the tree, or whether the interruption of the flow will prevent the formation of ring at all. It may happen that two small rings will be formed, one for the spring and the other for the fall, or that no ring will appear. In either case the chronological record of the tree would be at fault, and there would be a different number of years indicated by trees of the same age in the northern part of the state where there has been sufficient moisture during the summer, and those in the southern part where there has been little or no rain. Surveyor who depend upon blazed trees to get their reckoning may find some difficulty on this score if the usual formation of one ring per year is interfered with this sea-

Liability of Employers. At the recent term of the United States court in Evansville the case of Roesner, administrator against Herman, was de-cided by Judge Gresham. The suit was for damages, alleged to have been sustained by an employe in Herman's factory. Herman set up in defense that he had made a contract with the employe at the time of the employment whereby the defendant was not to be held liable for any accident the employe might sustain while in defendant's service. Judge Gresham held that a contract, whereby an employe, in consideration o his employment, agrees to release and dis-charge his employer from all damages on account of any accident or death to the employe, resulting from the negligence of the employer or his co-employes, is void as against public policy. The decision is an important one, and will be printed in full in the Law Journal.

The Pardoning Power.

Governor Porter is overrun with petitions to pardon criminals, and he is, in many cases, obliged to "harden his heart" in order to avoid the abuse of his pardoning powers. A very persistent petitioner was refused this morning, Mrs, Horrocks, whose husband was sent up from Terre Haute for larceny. The woman had four small children and was destitute but the governor did not think this a sufficient reason to turn loose another Rodifer on the community. The governor and the other state officers made up a liberal purse and sent the woman and children to St. Louis, where they will find acquaintances.

Purchase of Mænnerchor Hall. The Mænnerchor last night arranged for the purchase of their hall. The society will purchase shares at par value as fast as their means will allow until all are in their hands. Eight thousand dollars were subscribed last night, and a committee consisting of J. P. Frenzel and A. Heckler has been appointed to secure the full amount of subscriptions.

GRAIN SPECULATION. A Drop in the Bucket-shop--The Amount of Business Done.

A News reporter has been a spectator (not a speculator) at the bucket shops for several days past, and found them perhaps several days past, and found them perhaps the kusiest places in town. From ten in the morning until half-past one, they are regularly thronged, and the visitor soon learns a score of familiar faces, for many there are who make "operations" in grain and stocks a regular vocation, and attend to it as assiduously as if there were millions in it. Some have managed to pull out some pretty fat plums, and some—haven't. In weeks when the markets have gone up steadily the boys have regularly drawn very encouraging diviregularly drawn very encouraging dividends and grown purse-proud and independent. But the inevitable turn would come and these same fellows at the end of a few more days would be as poor and humble, as a defeated candidate. As a rule they meet prosperity and adversity with commendable resignation, but there is something in their bearing or in the air that betrays the state of the market, and the initiated needs no barometer other than the indefinable something that says nothing and yet speaks.

This morning, before the rush of business began, after which extraneous matters gain no hearing, a reporter of The News called on Mr. D. S. Yount, manager of the called on Mr. D. S. Yount, manager of the shop, on the Tennessee street side of the board of trade building. He was glad, so he said, to furnish The News with any items at his command. When asked if the falling markets of the past week had not resulted somewhat what in his favor, he smiled so decidedly and unequivocally that the man with the partial potted down an effirmative really he pencil noted down an affirmative reply be-fore he had time to answer. When asked if he had any objection to giving anything like an approximate idea of daily profit and loss he still smiled but declined to commit himself, saying he did not deem it advisable. However he was willing to say to what extent the business was carried, and made the rather startling state ment that during the past week alone, he had bought and sold, in round numbers, 800,000 bushels of wheat as much of corn, and 250,000 bushels of oats, making a total of about one million eight hundred and fifty thousand bushels. All this in additition to extensive opera-tions in stocks. Mr. Yount says his business has been materially increased by the action of the Chicago board of trade, which requires that members shall charge 1/40 commission, which with the commission of commission, which with the commission of local dealers here makes the total cash of each deal %c per bushel. The commission charged by the bucket shops is 1/2c. so it is cheaper to deal with them. But while Mr. Yount declined to say anything as to the profit and loss, it takes but a moment's calculation to see that his gains during the past week must have been from $1,000 to $3,000 per day, as most of his patrons were "bulls," and the market suffered a big decline. It is said he has paid out like sums on a rising market. At the shop of M. Dickson & Co., across the street, the reporter was told that their business last week covered from 75,000 to 150,000 bushels of grain daily. From these figures an idea may be gained of the mania for speculation, even in Indianapolis.

TIN AND SHEET IRON WORK

All Kinds Job and Repair Work. Satisfaction Guaranteed. DAVIS, Shop, 53 Indiana Ave.

WE'VE ONE LINE OF SUITS. The goods have been closed at the factory, and this line is all there is; the sizes run from 35 to 42. It is a Diagonal Twill, or between a Twill and a Rib, with very dark brown stripe, so arranged on a dark ground of purpelish cast as to produce the effect of an Invisible Plaid, making a combination of figure and color very pleasing to the eye. 'Tis cut in a Single Breasted Sack. We're closing them t $14.50. They've been marked down from $18.00. A rare bargain among the many we have.

THE FRANKLIN (FIRE) INSURANCE COMPANY, of Indianapolis, is receiving, as it deserves to receive, the liberal patronage of the people of the state. Its businesss is rapidly increasing, and should continue to increase. It helps to pay our taxes and build up our City and State. It has already loaned a large sum of money at a low interest to the people of Indiana, and if it continues to receive the patronage it deserves, in a few years it will have half a million dollars

invested in our midst. Its officers and directors
